Commuter Air Technology to Give Away Wilderness Tire Kit at NBAA

ORLANDO, Fla., Oct. 7, 2003 — Commuter Air Technology will be giving away a Wilderness Tire kit at the upcoming National Business Aviation Association (NBAA) convention, Oct. 7-9 in Orlando, Fla.

NBAA attendees who would like the opportunity to win the Wilderness Tire kit need only drop a business card in the treasure chest at the Commuter Air exhibit, booth 2362. A random drawing will determine the winner. The treasure chest is in keeping with Commuter Air Technology's theme for the event, which is "Adventures in Corporate Aviation."

Although Wilderness Tires are ideal for landing in remote areas, they are also well suited for corporate aviation because they contribute to softer, significantly more comfortable landings.

Company officials point out that Wilderness Tires are a great option for operators of standard gear aircraft seeking the soft field takeoff and landing capabilities of a high float-equipped King Air. They have the added benefit of extending tire life by 30 percent. More information about Wilderness Tires is available at the Commuter Air web site, www.commuterair.com.

Founded in 1985, Commuter Air Technology is a product development driven company that provides quality aircraft enhancements for a full range of King Air products. The enhancements enable aircraft to do more while operating more effectively and efficiently.
